

How well do you support your teams?

There's a lot of noise online around teamwork in the workplace. While some organisations really get the idea, others have buried their heads in the sand. There are also many more that reckon they've got things right. But in fact, they've still got some way to go. How about your organisation? Are you talking the talk or walking the walk when it comes to helping people work well together? It's time to find out.

Simply rate the following 12 statements from 1 to 5 (1 = strongly disagree, 5 = strongly agree) to find out how team-oriented your business really is.

Your multigenerational workforce

- Employees of different ages work very well together across your organisation.
- Your business recognises that different generations have different expectations regarding facilities and technology.
- All age groups feel confident enough to suggest and execute innovative ideas.

Your shared expertise

- Your staff regularly work on different teams or with members of different teams.
- All your employees can quickly and easily find and communicate with any other member of staff at any time.
- Your business empowers and encourages all employees to work any time, anywhere on multiple devices.

Your workspaces

- You have plenty of spaces available in your location(s) for impromptu brainstorming.
- Your meeting rooms are equipped with the latest technology so everyone can get involved.
- Your office is predominantly open-plan and designed to maximise chance encounters.

Your decision making

- Any member of staff can quickly and easily locate the information they need.
- Senior managers sign off decisions quickly.
- Your organisational structure is transparent and uncomplicated.

Your score is: out of 60

See next page for results chart >

How effectively is your organisation promoting teamwork in the workplace?

Up to 20

You probably know already that your business isn't promoting teamwork in the workplace – at all! But don't worry. There's still time. You'll need to raise this with your CEO and create a collaboration strategy. And you'll need to do it sooner rather than later. Download our e-book on teamwork to find out more.

Your company's starting to promote a strategy that will make it happen. You're certainly heading in the right direction. But you still have some way to go before you feel the real benefits of teamwork. You'll need to identify areas for improvement and highlight these to your CEO. And you'll need to do it soon. Download our e-book on teamwork to find out more.

21 to
40

41 to
60

Well done! Your organisation really knows how to get the most out of teams. You're giving your people the tools, spaces and structure they need to work together effectively. But teamwork's an ongoing journey. And today's digital world changes fast. So, you need to keep on top of the latest developments as they happen. Download our e-book on teamwork to find out more.

Teamwork by Microsoft

So, how did you do? Are you new to the whole phenomenon? Or are you already a champion of working together? Whether you ended up with a score of 60 or 6, our e-book offers valuable insights into what the future holds for teamwork.

Download the e-book here